

About us:

The secret of effective communication clearly lies in choosing the right market, offering the right product and having a winning argument. That is your strength!

In order to reach new audience abroad, to export and to fine-tune your communications, translation has become crucial in today's global, technology-focused economy. And this is where JWC can help you by becoming your translation services provider! Translation is our strength.

With the translation services that we offer, you will find language is no longer a barrier between you and your international customers. With the translation services that we offer, you can reach out to potential clients and customers in every corner of the world.

Background:

Language Right Services Limited was founded in 1995 by a linguist and computer scientist with the aim of exploiting technology to increase the quality of human translation while reducing the turnaround time and cost. Since its conception has closed all fiscal years with a net profit and can now count on a team of 1,500 professional, native-language translators and a vast and enviable portfolio of customers.

Our aim, right from day one, has been to offer our customers a guarantee of cost, quality and quick delivery. We have always stood apart from our competitors due to our capacity to integrate technology into the translation process.

We can manage the localization project in a high level. With the idea of "Market for survival, quality for benefits, and management for progress", we firmly believe that we are top-grade professional service provider in Hong Kong.

Globalization is the way the world is going. This is a society where information has become one of the most valuable commodities. And its effective presentation in different languages is an essential part of success in any field of endeavor. In this day and age, fast, accurate and professional translation cannot be dispensed with.

We shall persistently follow our business belief "Accuracy, efficacy, and elegance" in offering you the best translation services possible.

With the translation services that we offer, you will find language is no longer a barrier between you and your international customers. With the translation services that we offer, you can reach out to potential clients and customers in every corner of the world.

This, as well as our total respect of the confidentiality of customers' documents, has allowed us to quickly win the trust of major multinational and government customers like Yahoo!, Government of Dubai, Zurich International Life Ltd, General Electrics (HK) Limited, MTR Corporation Ltd and many others...

Mission:

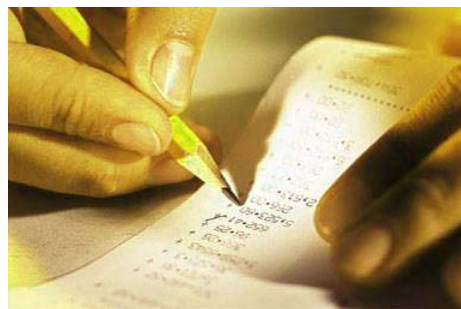

Our aim is to facilitate the internationalization of our customers' businesses from a linguistic standpoint.

To offer a high quality/price ratio we have decided to offer a completely Internet-based service. After an initial investment to automate the project management and human resources workflows, we have been able to eliminate costs that make traditional translation agencies less competitive. We offer a more personal service with significantly lower turnaround times and order management costs. We have been able to focus our efforts instead on a better selection of translators and on the development of ad hoc solutions for customers.

Document Translation:

Whether you have a single page or a thick user manual, or need to create a persuasive presentation for a conference, our translators are ready when you call. We guarantee that we will respond quickly to your request for quote, respect the agreed deadline and produce the high-quality work you demand, while maintaining affordable prices.

Our global network of freelance translators can handle nearly any type of document. Whether you need translation services for commercial documents and business communication, multilingual website translation services or assistance with adapting advertising and marketing materials, JWC can provide the quick, accurate service that your growing business needs. By relying on translators experienced in the given subject matter for every translation, we can guarantee the accuracy of every document.

JWC approach:

- »We offer quality translations performed by translators with in depth-knowledge of the source and target languages (they translate only to their native language) and the subject matter.
- »We anticipate your need for flexible and efficient service.
